As requested I reviewed FORRI phase 3. I was reasonably pleased with the draft document. It did not go far enough with goal oriented statements but a great improvement of that which is currently in place. The one area which was a disappointment related to no reference with respect to appropriate standards. Canada has been active in improving the quality of standards related to the oil and gas industry and it seems that these efforts to improve standards are either not know or not recognized.

I would like to see a statement in the document that recognizes the value of good standards such as Canada has been active in participating with the International community with eventual adoption as a Canadian standard .Good standards developed with Canadian input and commitment are the backbone of Canadian regulation. This needs to be recognized and supported by the regulatory bodies and the industry.

Thank you for the opportunity of reviewing the FORRI phase 3 document.
